BREAKOUT SESSION INFORMATION MONDAY 30 NOVEMBER

SESSION 1: LGBTI Awareness 101, Pride in Diversity

Pride in Diversity's introductory session to LGBTI workplace inclusion covers the importance of creating respectful, safe and inclusive workplaces that foster teamwork, innovation and high-performance. This session demystifies the LGBTI acronym, provides comfort around inclusive language and terminology use and examines a number of interesting research studies including the impact of the workplace environment on LGBTI employees who are not 'out' about their sexuality or gender identity at work. The session is the perfect preparation for the Engaging Allies for Change workshop tomorrow.

SESSION 2: Creating LGBTI impact and relevance, CSIRO and Australian National University

World-leading universities and research institutions, such as CSIRO and ANU, have needed to maintain leadership not just in research, but also in diversity. The value of growing an organisational culture with a diversity of thought and inclusion of all people has gained strategic prominence for many innovation driven organisations. ANU and CSIRO have each recently undertaken journeys to place LGBTI issues on the agenda and establish LGBTI and Ally staff networks.

This session aims to share the approaches and lessons learned in striving to get LGBTI issues on the corporate agenda and supporting the inclusion of all staff. Key insights will cover: where to start, growing a network, common barriers, establishing governance, seeking legitimacy, and maintaining momentum during times of change.

SESSION 3: LGBTI Inclusion in the Defence Force,
Department of Defence

Details to come.

SESSION 4: Diversity Consciousness, The Black Rainbow

With diversity an ever increasing need in the workplace, Dameyon Bonson, a Mangarayi and Torres Strait Islander man believes that it is only through inclusive practices that this can this be fully realised. If an inclusive world can provide better health outcomes, so too can an inclusive workplace. In 2013, Dameyon founded Black Rainbow Living Well for Indigenous LGBTI Suicide Prevention and Wellbeing. In this session, Dameyon will draw on his lived professional experience in the corporate, government and NGO sector, as an Indigenous gay man, to provide workplaces with the absolute fundamentals of healthy diversity in the workplace.

SESSION 5: How to Develop and Execute an Ally Strategy Within Universities, The University of Western Australia

Details to come

SESSION 6: Workshop: LBTQ Women in the Workplace – An Awareness Session, Pride in Diversity

In this awareness session specifically about LBTQ women, we discuss the unique challenges of being a woman with diverse sexual orientation in the workplace today. We explore research of recent years, and hear the voice of women across the country, deepening the insight into the lived experience of being LBTQ in the workplace today. We will discuss how everyone, regardless of orientation or gender identity, can make a real difference and have a sustainable impact in creating truly inclusive cultures while increasing the visibility of female role models.

SESSION 7: Where business and community connect, Sydney Gay and Lesbian Business Association (SGLBA

In 2016 the SGLBA celebrates 35 years connecting LGBTIQ businesses and professionals, and their allies. This session looks briefly at where the SGLBA has come from, and how it remains relevant in an environment of increasing inclusion and accepted diversity.

To deliver our members the most value, we must provide them with opportunities to grow their business beyond the LGBTIQ community - and promoting the importance of authentic workplaces and an understanding of the diversity agenda for sole traders, entrepreneurs, small and medium businesses. These issues are not restricted to the top-end of town.

SESSION 8: Bringing the construction sector into LGBTI view: a Lendlease facilitated workshop investigating ways to activate LGBTI inclusion on construction sites, Lendlease

This session draws on Lendlease's 2014 piloting of the first-of-its-kind LGBTI Construction Site Network. Lendlease is eager to learn more about community and Australian workplace views of how to achieve LGBTI inclusion in the construction and property sector. It is intended as highly interactive, so please come with your thinking cap on, it will be a collaborative workshop.

This is an interactive breakout session designed to achieve two outcomes:

1.provide an informative overview of how Lendlease is working to bridge the gap of inclusion between office and construction-site based LGBTI employees; and

2. Facilitate a collaborative workshop focussed on how the construction sector can achieve authentic LGBTI inclusion

BREAKOUT SESSION INFORMATION MONDAY 30 NOVEMBER

SESSION 9: From Grass Roots to GAYTMs- how to achieve genuine workplace inclusion, ANZ

This session will explore the evolution of the ANZ Pride Network, from a grass roots employee movement, to a structured global network with significant business support.

A panel discussion, with Q&A, will provide organisations with some practical hints and tips in building business commitment, engaging with senior leaders, and engaging with the staff, customers and the community in support of LGBTI issues.

The panel will be made up of senior leaders from across ANZ (and possibly other organisations), and cover our successes in the areas of policy, training and awareness, our partnership with Sydney Gay and Lesbian Mardi Gras, and our newest work focusing on transgender and intersex employees.

SESSION 10: Being an 'LGBTIQ Employer of Choice' for students and young professionals, Out for Australia

What do tertiary students and young professionals look for in prospective employers? What unique issues do they face by virtue of identifying as LGBTIQ? Is there a disconnect between what you think they want from their employer and what they actually value? Out for Australia seeks to support and mentor LGBTIQ students as they navigate their way through the early stages of their career. They strive to break down barriers for LGBTIQ people entering the workplace through their national Mentoring Program, Womens Program and development & networking events. Drawing on these experiences, this session will explore what it really means to be an LGBTIQ employer of choice through the eyes of tertiary students and young professionals.

SESSION 11: How Connected Can You Be? Maximise your Network's Reach and Effectiveness Through Internal Partnering and Collaboration, HSBC Australia

HSBC will be hosting a break out session to get you thinking around how you can partner internally for maximum impact. Many employee networks face limited budgets and are staffed by employees with time and capacity constraints, so collaborating effectively for mutual benefit is critical for success. By the end of the session, you will hear what HSBC has done to date in Australia, and through a collective brainstorming session, share experience across each of our organisations.

SESSION 12: Small Steps to Greater Inclusion, Key Assets

This session will focus on the development of Key Assets as an inclusive and diverse small employer, highlighting the "wins" we have experienced and the roadblocks that come from being a small not-for-profit with a large geographical footprint in Australia and New Zealand.

We will explore the changes we have made from our first AWEI submission in 2014 to now and our plans to form our first combined LGBTI & Ally network group in Australia for employees, our foster carers and children/young people.

SESSION 13: Industry Focus: LGBTI Inclusion & The Law, Allens, Baker & McKenzie, Herbert Smith Freehills

Law firms are increasingly active in LGBTI Workplace inclusion and are finding new and innovative ways to engage staff and clients in this space. This panel of our most active law firm members will discuss their approaches to best practice and to share their success stories and the lessons learned. This session will provide a unique insight into inclusion practices at law firms and will have relevance across industries, including professional services. The session will particularly be of interest to end users of legal services.

SESSION 14: LGBTI Domestic and Family Violence and at the Key Issues and the Impacts on People in the Workplace, Domestic Violence NSW

Details to come

SESSION 15: Creating safer more inclusive schools for same sex attracted, gender diverse and intersex, Safe Schools Coalition NSW, Family Planning NSW

Family Planning NSW is the NSW partner of the Safe Schools Coalition Australia. The national coalition is dedicated to helping schools be safer and more inclusive for same sex attracted, intersex and gender diverse students, school staff and families. We are dedicated to creating environments where all students, teachers and families can feel safe and be themselves. All students need to feel included at school – only then can they be engaged with school and do well.

In this session you will hear about the work Safe Schools Coalition does with member schools, including the professional development for school staff, consultation and advice for schools on supporting SSAIGD students, how we engage with students and some of the resources we use.

This session will be useful for anyone interested in education, including families, education staff and young people.

SESSION 16: Bisexual Inclusion Focus Group, Pride in Diversity

This session will shine a light on the Bisexual Community, the "B" in LGBTI. Attendees to this breakout will gain insight into what it means to be bisexual, understand how the dualistic nature of our society affects perceptions of bisexuality and how to be an effective ally to bisexual people in your organisation. This interactive session will also focus on inclusive language, best practice in the workplace, recent studies and training tools to better educate staff.

BREAKOUT SESSION INFORMATION TUESDAY 1 DECEMBER

SESSION 17: Engaging Allies for Change, Pride in Diversity

Allies as 'change agents' are a vital part of building a more inclusive workplace culture for LGBTI employees. Pride in Diversity are the owners and facilitators of the Engaging Allies for Change workshop. This session is designed to provide participants with a hands on and practical 'how to' be an Ally for LGBTI employees by revising terminology and inclusive language, examining extensive research and data on LGBTI and workplace culture. The session utilises experiential workshop techniques to facilitate learning. Attendees will practice how to respond to exclusive or negative language and behaviours across a variety of contexts and will learn of additional actions that effective allies implement to create a more inclusive culture for LGBTI employees. This is a two part workshop.

SESSION 18: Embedding LGBTI into your Culture, Accenture

Once the excitement of having a 'new' LGBTI network has died down, it can be difficult to maintain momentum, especially to keep existing resources involved. We will provide some examples of how to insert LGBTI aspects into more general training, events and diversity activities, to help you reach as many people across your organisation as possible. The session will provide information about how to move from educating your workforce in LGBTI awareness to an approach which includes LGBTI diversity into management and leadership training.

We will also investigate how working with other employee resource groups/networks across your organisation can help to expand awareness, knowledge and networking opportunities for your LGBTI staff.

SESSION 19: More than lip service - Social impact and transformational power of successful D&I policy: Learnings from The Pinnacle Foundation

Organisations do a lot internally to create a diverse and inclusive workforce, yet how many have social impact externally? Having a social purpose that springs from D&I initiatives can empower internal activities and create a glue that binds everyone together. If "giving back" becomes part of the D&I mantra then discrimination can end, lives can be transformed and sometimes even saved. This workshop explores ways an organisation can capture its power to do good and demonstrate to its staff, customers and business partners how good D&I can change the world.

SESSION 20: LGBTI Inclusion in Aged Care and Disability, ACON Training & Consulting

This session will review some of the specific challenges of introducing LGBTI inclusion into the aged care and disability sectors, while sharing example of successes. It will explore inclusion for sectors facing many changes in terms of funding streams and discuss how to utilise benchmarking as an advantageous marketing tool.

SESSION 21: Continuing Engaging Allies for Change, Pride in Diversity

Pride in Diversity will continue the discussion of Engaging Allies for Change. It is recommended that delegates who attended Part 1, continue with Part 2.

SESSION 22: Understanding Asexuality, The Lived Experience, Pride in Diversity

In and across our workplaces, there continues to be greater awareness of diverse sexualities – but what about the other "A"? What about Asexuality?

To create a truly inclusive culture, this is of course an equally important orientation to understand, but how much do you really know, how visible is your network's support, and how equipped are you in providing an environment for your asexual employees and colleagues to feel supported and bring their full selves to work? We will be joined by Sapphire member and NAB Pride Network member Emily Gornalle, an asexual advocate who has worked tirelessly in her local area to build awareness and understanding in this often overlooked orientation.

SESSION 23: LGBTI Inclusion in Sport and the Development of the Pride in Sport Index, Andrew Purchas

84% of respondents from the Out of the Fields Study said that homophobic jokes and humour occur'all the time', 'often', or 'sometimes', around sports and just 1% of all participants believed that lesbian, gay and bisexual people were 'completely accepted' in sporting culture.

In this session, hear from Andrew Purchas, one of the founding members of the Pride in Sport Index (PSI) advisory board.

Andrew will talk about how the Index seeks to change the sporting landscape for LGBTI people not only from a player perspective but also create a more inclusive environment for spectators.

BREAKOUT SESSION INFORMATION TUESDAY 1 DECEMBER

SESSION 24: Intersection of Identity, Commonwealth Bank of Australia

While the Commonwealth Bank of Australia prides itself on securing and enhancing the financial wellbeing of people, businesses and communities, it is also very mindful of the ever changing myriad of intersections of gender identity and gender expression and the impact they can have on employees, customers and communities.

In this session we will discuss how we are considering, engaging and supporting our employees who identify as LBT women, servicing our gender diverse customers, and resultant impacts on technology and processes.

SESSION 25: Being an LGBTIQ academic: Roles and Responsibilities, Monash University

Academics have well known responsibilities when it comes to teaching and learning. But what about LGBTIQ academics? Do they have any additional responsibilities? This session considers the role that LGBTIQ academics can/should play in ensuring that universities are a safe and supportive environment for students. It will explore:

- curricula and pedagogical issues;
- leadership and mentoring roles;
- the place of Ally networks; and
- advocacy both within and outside of universities.

SESSION 26: Creating Mentally Healthy Workplaces For All, beyondblue

SESSION 28: Leading the Charge with Collaboration - The Importance of Broadening Your Community Appeal and Engagement with Other Network Groups, Macquarie Group

Often we see network groups and employee engagement activities operating with an individual approach, however when collaboration is evident a movement becomes more powerful. In order to appeal to broader audiences and have the opportunity to leverage new and greater resources, Pride@ Macquarie will share their experiences in connecting with their clients, community and staff in a collaborative approach, leading the charge at Macquarie in diversity and inclusion initiatives.

BREAKOUT SESSION INFORMATION WEDNESDAY 2 DECEMBER

SESSION 29: HIV in the Workplace, Steven Berveling

In this session, Steven Berveling will share the historical context of HIV, key issues and approaches to managing HIV in the workplace

This session will cover:

- An overview of HIV 30 years into the epidemic
- Emerging opportunities to reduce the transmission
- Partnership and multi-sectoral approaches to HIV
- Key issues and approaches to managing HIV in the workplace
- Examples of good practice responding to and managing HIV in the workplace

SESSION 30: Understanding Intersection – LGBTI and other Diversities, Pride in Diversity

We all know diversity takes many forms. In this session, we explore intersectionality with a particular focus on the unique challenges faced by people who both identify as LGBTI and also come from a culturally diverse background. The considerations we explore in this session will filter into disclosure sensitivities for HR and the delicate nature of shifting to an all-inclusive culture for allies and senior leaders.

SESSION 31: Creating Mentally Healthy Workplaces For All, beyondblue

Heads Up is an initiative developed by beyondblue in collaboration with the Mentally Healthy Workplace Alliance, a tri-partite collaboration between business, government and the mental health sector. Heads Up highlights the benefits of creating mentally healthy workplaces and assists individuals and organisations to take action. In this session you will be given a guided tour of the Heads Up website to introduce you to the free tools and resources available to assist you to create a mentally healthy workplace, take care of yourself at work and support others in your workplace. This session will also share research in relation to how workplaces can affect the mental health of LGBTI Australians as well as sharing her own personal reflections.

SESSION 32: Inclusive Service Provision: The Rainbow Tick, ACON Consulting & Training & Rainbow Tick

How do service users recognise LGBTI inclusive organisations? The national accreditation, the rainbow tick, is now being delivered across the country. This session will introduce the six competency standards and discuss how it can be incorporated into a business plan as well as how it complements the AWEI.

In this session, we will also hear from Rainbow Tick NZ and discuss what the key differences are between the Australian Rainbow Tick Vs. New Zealand, what this means for your organisations and how you can get involved.

SESSION 33: Public Service - Raising the Bar in the AWEI, Pride in Diversity

In comparison to Private Sector employers, year-on-year representation of Australian Public Service (APS) employers in the Top 20 of the AWEI is decreasing (representing 1 in 5 in 2015). The UK's 2015 Workplace Equality Index (conducted by Stonewall) features a 50% representation of public-owned, public sector and/or local councils.

This session is an interactive breakout group exclusively for Australian Public Service attendees designed to outline the 'state of play' of APS in the Australian Workplace Equality Index (AWEI) and facilitate discussion around raising the bar on performance of APS in the AWEI.

SESSION 34: The Inevitable Successes and Challenges of Transitioning in the Workplace, JoAnna Ferrari

Join the incredibly inspirational JoAnna Ferarri in a discussion about transition like you've never heard it before. In this refreshingly open dialogue, Jo Anna will share her own experience, successes and challenges, while inviting us to

BREAKOUT SESSION INFORMATION WEDNESDAY 2 DECEMBER

SESSION 36: Using Diversity to Create High Performing Teams. EY

The ability of an organisation to create a well-led and diverse team that respects and values differences will be a competitive advantage to winning in the marketplace. LGBTI inclusion and awareness propels teams to a higher level of performance. High performing teams are both diverse and inclusive, fully using team members' different skills, experiences and perspectives to generate ideas relevant to the organisations vision and goals.

EY Australia has leveraged the power of various external high performing teams, such as the Sydney Convicts (the Sydney gay rugby team) to generate innovation through collective viewpoints and experiences. Walk away from this session with tips on leading and managing diverse high performing teams.

SESSION 37: Moving Beyond 'We're Here, We're Queer': Law Firm Engagement in LGBTI Issues – An Executive Sponsor's Perspective, Allens

Rachel Nicolson, Allens partner, former board member and executive sponsor of ALLin, the firm's LGBTI employee network, will talk about the journey that ALLin has taken from its inception in 2011 to its joint 14th place ranking on the 2015 AWEI in the firm's first submission to the index. Rachel will consider the importance of senior executive buy-in, engagement with your client base, playing to your strengths and focussing on what's important – and how a law firm has sought to engage its employee network, its profile and its professional expertise to make a tangible difference in the LGBTI space.

SESSION 38: LGBT Inclusion – Extending Your Commitment to Asia, Community Business Hong Kong

More details to come

SESSION 39: What LBT Women Want (and What the Rest of Us Can Do to Help), Herbert Smith Freehills

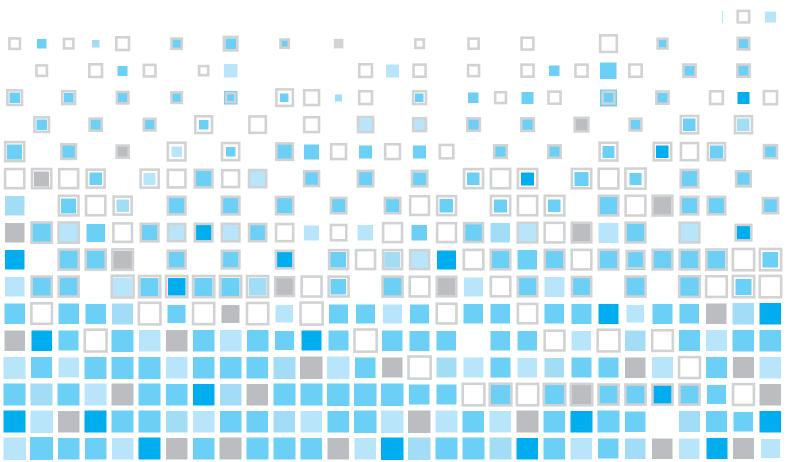

The lack of 'out' LBT role models in Australian workplaces, and more broadly, is not a new story. Many of us have been lamenting this reality, and searching for 'solutions', for decades now. So... What has changed? What changes do we still need? And how do we go about achieving them? Facilitated by the LGBTI Network of top law firm Herbert Smith Freehills, this interactive session will address these important questions, and more. Hear about the firm's widely-respected approach to LGBTI inclusion and experiences in role modelling successful 'out' women, and explore how we can all ensure LBT women feel comfortable and confident to express themselves at work and beyond.

SESSION 40: The Value of Inclusion, National Australia Bank

It is no longer enough to bring together a diverse mix of people; it is about having a culture and leadership that engages and unleashes the full potential of their people. Most organisations already have a diverse workforce comprised of different people with different experiences.

Diversity does not address how these different people function together- this is inclusion. Inclusion enables us to strive to have all people respected and valued, not just for their abilities, but also for their unique qualities and perspectives to realise diversity of thought.

In creating strategy that specifically addresses the inclusion of employees that identify as LGBTI this has the potential to unlock significant benefits for the wider diversity agenda as well as an organisation.
